Subject: Weiss Comments

Hi Dave,

In terms of the Board of Health's comments towards the Weiss Farm project, aside from the concerns that have been brought up regarding the wetlands, traffic, etc., there is one concern that I have regarding the issue. Where a project of this magnitude is sure to stir up any underlying pest problems that may be associated with the large space, my main concern is the spread of infestation towards the neighboring residential areas. We usually will get complaints from abutters regarding vermin and rodents from small construction projects, so a project this size may bring about a large amount of complaints regarding the same issue. Just food for thought, as I'm sure that any construction that does take place will be monitored by an industrial hygeinist to ensure nothing like that does happen. Given the proximity of the space to the neighboring residential areas it is a topic that without question shouldnt be overlooked.

Thanks!
