Subject: Preliminary TIF process

Hi Dave

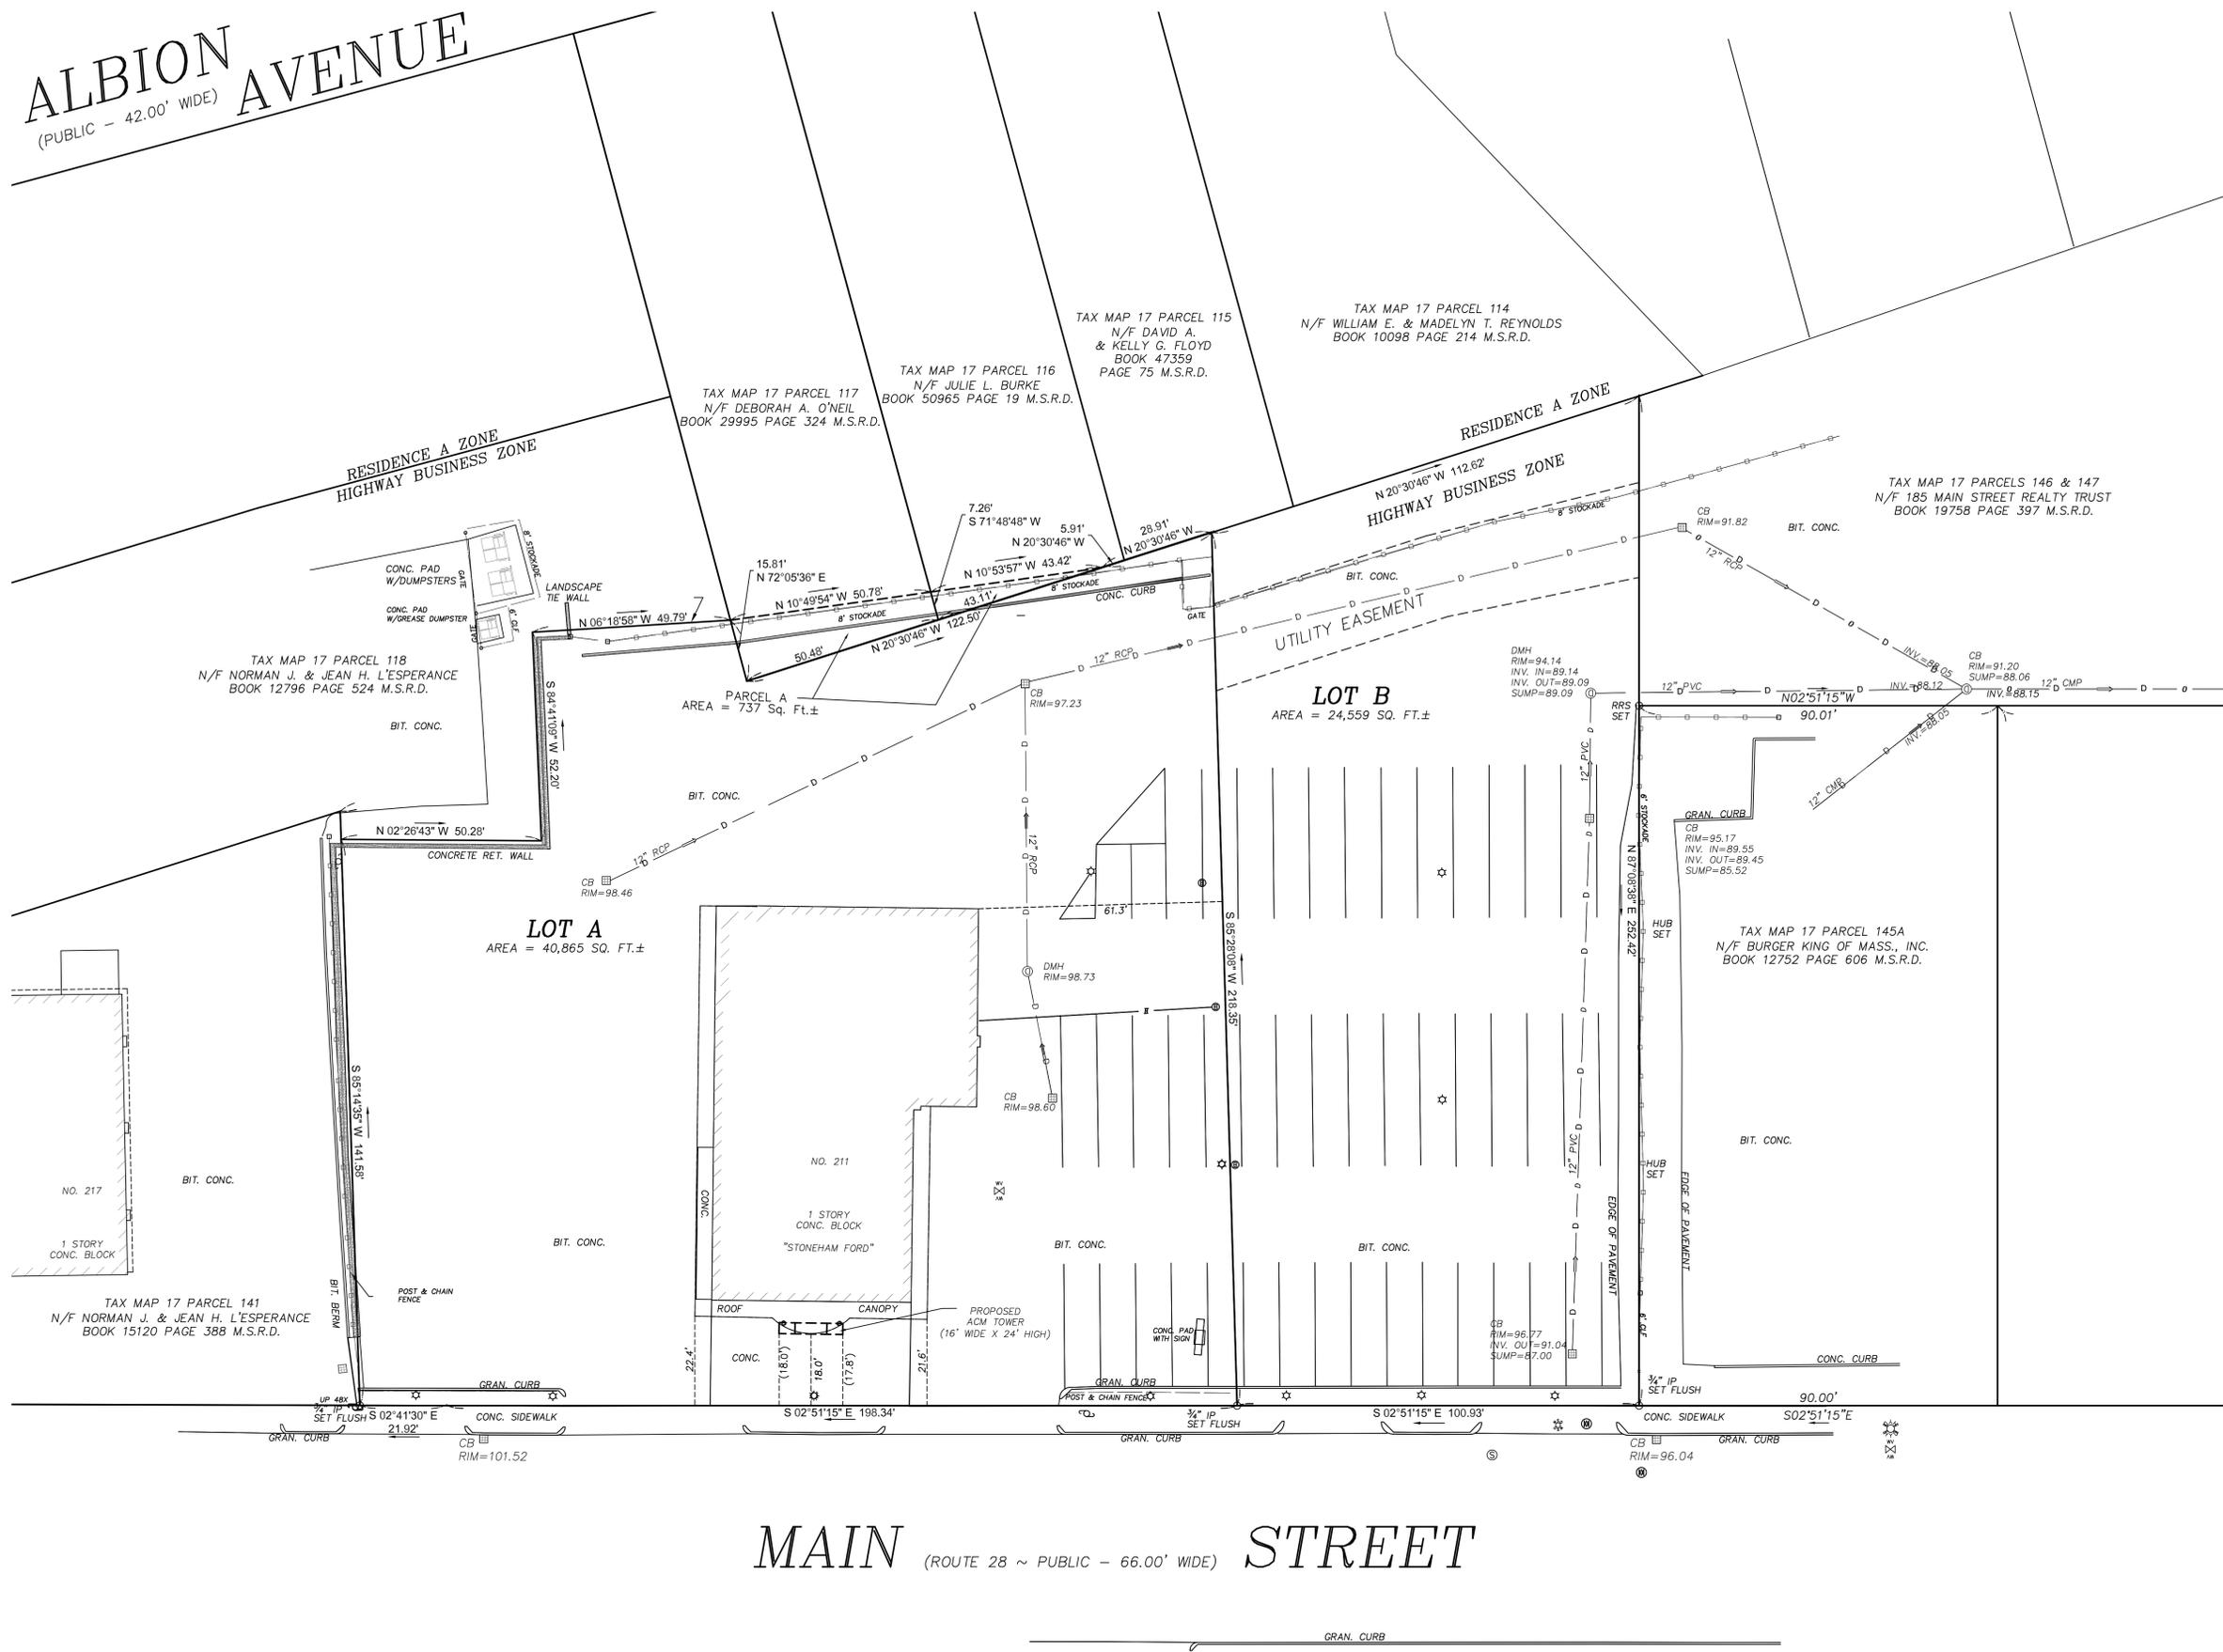

Here are my suggestions on the Town's TIF process:

- Interested developer sends a Notice of Intent to the Board of Selectmen (thinking we should probably create a name for this not to confuse the Conservation NOI process – additionally, maybe I could create a letter template as well as list of necessary information required for potential developer? Necessary information includes: project address, proposed improvements, proposed project investment and name of parties involved)
- BOS defers NOI to Committee for review
- Committee (consisting of Town Administrator, State Senior Business Manager, Town Planner, Assessor) meets with interested developer to go over proposed funding (at least two meetings)
 - Options meeting – We will all sit down and have a conversation about what options are available to the developer and this particular property (for instance – if a building has been vacant for more than two years then there's an additional funding option) Committee will bring information from town (like current property values, parcel information, etc) to this meeting
 - Proposal meeting – To go over proposal and options requested (this will include percent requested, number of years, etc)
 - Committee will meet and create a finding. A post-finding meeting with interested developer could be necessary but otherwise, report could be forwarded to BOS for review/approval.
- Committee's findings send to BOS for approval pending any additional required permitting
- BOS approves, denies or sends proposal back to Committee

I'm thinking we could sit and discuss the above at your convenience. I believe it's important to get this timeline to the BOS for their thoughts/approval before moving forward with the creation of any templates or guiding documents.

To Whom It May Concern,

I truly hope this letter is not arriving too late as I am extremely interested in the opportunity available within Stoneham's Historic Commission. As a lifelong resident of Stoneham and a strong advocate of preserving and protecting America's historic landscape, I am eager to become more involved in the decisions effecting our town's history.

Growing up in Stoneham, I was fortunate to be surrounded by an eclectic mixture of buildings chronicling the town's varied history: restored saltbox homes from the American Revolution, converted factory buildings reminiscent of the industrialization of America and iconic New England Capes marking the town's suburban identity. These surroundings strongly influenced my decision to pursue a degree in history following my graduation from Stoneham High in 2008. I went on to the University of New Hampshire where my studies focused on the material culture of the late-nineteenth and early-twentieth centuries. The majority of my research focused on how American architecture was influenced by the period's social trends.

Over the past few years I have worked in various environments focusing on the preservation, protection and promotion of art and history, including the Museum of Fine Arts, Kaminski Auctions and the Arlington Historical Society. I am currently employed at the Danforth Museum and School in Framingham, where we aim to communicate the importance of past, artistic trends and foster the creativity of those developing their skills and interest in art. In relation to the open position on the Stoneham Historic Commission I believe I can contribute an earnest enthusiasm for the town's history and a range of experience.

In addition to my education and career background, my interest in the town's history is a personal one. For generations, my family has resided in Stoneham and contributed to the town in a variety of different facets. My grandfather owned and operated, O'Grady's Diner, which once sat just outside the Square; my great-uncle was an Olympian, his commemorative coat resides in the Historical Society and my great-aunt held a long time position at the Stoneham Public works. In my opinion, history is always more exciting when one can make a personal connection. Becoming a part of Stoneham's Historical Commission is a great opportunity to preserve and promote the town's history as well as the personal histories of various other Stoneham residents.

I truly hope I have successfully described my qualifications and conveyed my enthusiasm for the open position on the Historic Commission. Please do not hesitate to contact me with any additional questions. I sincerely thank-you for your time and consideration.

Kindly,
